All students are welcome to take part in the activities of the radio and some programmes are also held by Erasmus incoming students. In September 2008 LUISS launched a WebTv.

The International Relations Office for student mobility

In 1988, from the first year of participation in the Erasmus Programme, LUISS Guido Carli University set up an International Relations Office for student mobility to take care of all aspects of student mobility, and an Academic Commission for International Relations responsible for academic aspects and recognition of periods of study abroad. The Office and the Academic Commission work together continuously in order to guarantee high quality and a good organization of all mobility activities.

In these past twenty years LUISS Guido Carli has been actively involved in the European programmes Erasmus and Socrates, through which we have established fruitful co-operation links with more than ninety European Institutions. The International Relations Office promotes student exchanges within the LLP Erasmus Programme as well as through bilateral agreements with non-European Universities. The office is responsible for all aspects concerning student mobility in all faculties. All procedures are based on the ECTS system (European Community Course Credit Transfer System).

Management of student mobility

The International Relations Office takes care of all the following aspects before the student mobility takes place:

- Bilateral agreements and Contacts with all partners
- Institutional Contract and Application - Documents for the Italian National Agency
- Information, documentation, application forms, brochures, web site updates, counselling

LUISS Guido Carli adopted the ECTS system since the initial pilot project. It is used for all aspects related to student mobility. Each year the ECTS brochures are updated and posted on-line. The ECTS documents and procedures are used for both outgoing and incoming students: the ECTS on-line application form, the learning agreements and transcripts of records.

Outgoing students

Call for selection - information and offer

Each year a call for selection document is prepared in order to provide information on the exchange programmes, selection criteria, places available at partner institutions, deadlines, etc.. The International Relations Office offers face-to-face information, counselling and advice to all students interested in an exchange programme. At the Office, the potential candidates can also make copies of information on the Partner Universities and of the Erasmus reports written by the exchange students of the previous years.

A strict selection of candidates is made based on: Academic requisites (average grade point and number of credits) and Language competence.

Academic recognition - Learning agreements - Transcript of records

At LUISS academic recognition of periods of study abroad has always been the fundamental asset of student mobility. After the selection process has been completed, each nominated student meets the Academic Delegate of his Faculty, with a staff member of IRO Office, to elaborate a learning agreement and another internal recognition document. The approved documents are signed by the professor and the students and sent to the Student Office of LUISS. Each student receives a copy of the recognition documents. The learning agreements are then sent to the partner universities with the application forms and nomination letters. LUISS students receive written information about the exchange and instructions on how to change the learning agreements if any of the approved courses are not available. The International Relations Office is in contact and assists the students before departure, while abroad and when they return to LUISS.

When the International Relations Office receives the transcripts of records for the students that spent a period of study abroad, a final recognition and registration document is prepared. This document is signed by the Delegate of the Faculty and by the Dean. The final document is then registered by the Student Office in the main computer system of the university.

Incoming students

The first source of information for incoming students is the LUISS web site: information on curricula, the ECTS brochures, general information, frequently asked questions, procedures and steps to take before the exchange.

Then the students should contact the home university coordinator for the detailed documents received by LUISS such as, procedures for the on-line application, further information on accommodation, on the intensive Italian language course, etc..

Once the incoming students have been nominated and the application documents have been received, the International Office sends all students an acceptance letter and practical information. The students also receive support via e-mail before arrival.

Accommodation is guaranteed to all students that apply by the deadline. A private organization takes care of housing matters for LUISS.

When incoming students arrive, they are offered orientation sessions and receive an information package. Registration procedures, course selection and learning agreements are prepared and completed with the assistance of the International Relations Office. During their period of study at LUISS, guest students receive face-to-face support and advice when needed.

LUISS organizes an intensive Italian language and culture course in September and regular courses in both semesters, for exchange students. They are free of charge for the students.

A number of activities are organized to help integration of the international students with the cooperation of the student associations. Incoming students are offered the same facilities and services as local students, such as: sports, a university dining hall, a medical doctor, IT and e-mail, a library, a bookstore, cultural events, a university radio, Erasmus tutoring, etc..

At the end of each examination period the International Relations Office takes care of collecting the transcripts of records from the Student Office in due time. The transcripts of records are sent to the students and International Coordinators of the home Universities.

Erasmus Tutors

Both outgoing and incoming students are also supported by three Erasmus Tutors, one for each Faculty. The Tutors mainly take care of academic aspects and problems and are available for the whole academic year. They are chosen among our young graduates that spend a period abroad, under the Erasmus programme, in the previous years.

Student evaluation of the exchange

All aspects of mobility are continuously monitored. At the end of the periods of study outgoing students write a report on their experience while incoming students complete an evaluation questionnaire at the end of the exchange. These documents are read by the staff of the International Relations Office and the members of the Academic Commission in order to check and increase the quality standard of the exchanges.

Exchange procedures for incoming students

Who can apply

First of all, you should be aware of the fact that the International Relations Office of LUISS Guido Carli will accept exchange students only under the LLP Erasmus Programme or any other exchange agreement.

Other students can only apply for corsi singoli and have to pay a fee for each course. At the end of the period of study they will receive a transcript of records for the exams taken.

For corsi singoli registration is made through Segreteria Studenti (Student Office) of LUISS.

The steps you should take and things you should know

Contact the International Coordinator at your Home University. Each sending Institution is responsible for the selection of students.

If you have been selected for a period of study at LUISS as an exchange student, you should ask the coordinator of your University for the following LUISS information and application documents:

The procedures for the on-line application.

The username and the password.

The 2009-2010 academic calendar.

The 2009-2010 fact sheets and Contacts of the International Relations Office.

Information on how to get accommodation at LUISS and the application form.

Information on the intensive Italian course and the Italian test.

We manage all relevant information through partner Institutions and do not usually send additional packages to the students selected for the exchange.

Read the instructions carefully before you apply. Complete the documents, follow the instructions and meet the deadlines.

Be aware of our deadlines

Search our web site from time to time: pages are updated when new information is available. Check the web pages of LUISS Professors (under Cattedre on line) for detailed information about courses.

Remember, the main language of instruction is Italian. Your level should be adequate.

LUISS Guido Carli offers an intensive Italian language course, held in September, and courses during both semesters (3 hours per week). The courses are at two levels, intermediate and advanced. No provision is made for beginners. At the end of the courses, the students who have complied with the requirements, will receive a certificate (with grades and ECTS credits) for the work done.

The courses are only open to Erasmus and Exchange students coming from partner Universities and they are free of charge.

If you feel your level is not sufficient, take a summer course before coming to LUISS for the intensive Italian language course held in September.

At LUISS the main language of instruction is Italian but some single courses in English are offered each year. Moreover, an increasing number of degree programs and courses are held in English.

The following degree programs are entirely taught in English:

- Bachelor's Degree Program in Economics and Business
- Master's Degree Program in General Management
- First Level Master's Degree Program in Economics
- First Level Master's Degree Program in Management, Consulting and ERP
- First Level Master's Degree Program in European Studies

The LUISS Law Faculty also offers a few courses in English each academic year.

From the academic year 2009-2010, all Erasmus and Exchange students will be allowed to attend the courses in English, according to their level of study, faculty, academic background and English language proficiency.

Timing

By February of every academic year, we send all our partners updated materials, application procedures and documents for exchange students.

The deadline is May 31 every year for receiving the LUISS application form.

All other deadlines change slightly from year to year.

Exchange students will receive an acceptance letter and practical information in June.

The quality of mobility and the international dimension

The International Relations Office for student mobility is a centralized structure from the very beginning of the Programme. It takes care of student exchanges for all Faculties of LUISS Guido Carli.

The Erasmus and Exchange programmes have had a deep and stimulating impact on the whole University. They have played an important role in enhancing the International dimension of the institution.

LUISS boasts distinguished tradition in education and is now enjoying a time of considerable growth and positive change in an increasingly open international dimension. It provides the highest quality education and gives an international scope to the study of social sciences.

The use of the ECTS system has improved the transparency and clarity of student qualifications. The procedures have been extended to the other international exchanges and the system has been useful to build programmes in partnership with other universities.

The increasing number of incoming students have encouraged the production of information materials in English and the development of a web site in English, not only of the pages related to the International Relations Office.

Some year ago LUISS started to offer a few courses in English in order to attract more international and Erasmus students. The university today offers full degree programmes in English at all levels.

The LUISS Rector is committed to keeping LUISS a first-rate University and to improving its results, especially at an international level, by intensifying world-wide collaborations, strengthening post-graduate programs, expanding research opportunities, recruiting new faculty all over the international arena, tailoring our curricula to the evolving needs of the global scenario.

The organization of the mobility takes place one year in advance. All the information materials in English, for partner Universities, are updated and sent to the Institutions many months before the student exchanges take place.

The LUISS International Relations Office has standardized and simplified all the procedures for the Erasmus students. All internal administrative procedures are channelled through the International Relations Office. Many aspects are taken care of automatically by the offices involved, such as course enrolment and registration for the exams.

Erasmus students receive materials, information and support well before arrival.

Accommodation is guaranteed to all Erasmus students that apply by the deadline.

After arrival of the students, orientation sessions, visits of the campuses and social activities are organized. The students receive an information package (in English and Italian), the university badge and the LUISS e-mail.

The first period of an exchange abroad is difficult for many students. Most of the practical matters seem a major problem and can become an obstacle. At their arrival, students do not know the Country and often do not speak the language very well. They may have cultural shock problems feel home sick. Moreover, they do not know the Italian university system and the procedures and rules of the host university. For these reasons, the staff of the International Relations Office takes great care of each student with a face-to-face counselling and support and does the best to make them feel at home, also thanks to the help of the student associations.

Erasmus students receive support and advice for practical and academic problems during the whole period of study and whenever needed. Student visiting hours are every day from Monday to Friday and Tuesdays and Thursdays also in the afternoon.

The enthusiasm that staff and faculty put into what they do and the attention we place in assisting outgoing and incoming students is a quality and strength we offer.

Studying at LUISS means belonging to a dynamic and international community which shares interests, passions and experience. University lifestyle is designed to promote integration among students, as well as active participation and direct relations with professors.

Why should you choose LUISS Guido Carli University ?
